Thanks to going to YouthQuake, I know I will be able to keep God & Jesus in my life.

-Dalton Hall

I realized after this weekend that it doesn't matter what other people think it is about . What God thinks matters.

-Matt Stagmer

This was my fourth time at YouthQuake. It didn't hit me as hard as the other ones have but I felt God emotionally. I prayed to get closer & trust God more & I am starting too. I'm so glad I came and I cannot wait for the next one.

-Mallory Miller

While we were heading to YouthQuake I thought that it was just gonna be fun and nothing serious. I thought we were just gonna learn a little more about Jesus, But after it started I felt everyone getting emotional and I understood that it was really special. People that I didn't think were really that emotional I saw go up there and pray and it made me closer to God.

-Keyur Patel

Friday Night- I went and rededicated my life to God. I felt God in me. My eyes saw a bright white light behind them. But I knew I had more to fulfill. That night I made a few decisions and promises to God (like in goals). I prayed over Miranda and Mallory that night and about 2 minutes after praying I felt the Holy Spirit in me. From then on the prayer flowed and it was like God was speaking through me. Saturday Night- I went and got prayed over by a woman named Morgan. I told her what was on my heart and we prayed. After she prayed for all the things I told her about I could tell something changed. A weight lifted off me. I felt a huge chill. And I knew the Holy Spirit was with us praying at that time. Then Morgan started to name some of my troubles and problems that I didn't even mention. Things like my anger and sadness within me. And for me to release all of my inner anger and fulfill gods love for me. It was amazing for me to feel Gods presence.

-Sincerely, Rachael Phibbons(:

During YouthQuake, I was really changed. I went there for the first time and I could really feel the Holy Spirit. The speakers and the music were intense and really touched me, the people were great, and I have really decided to let Jesus in my life. I'm ready to go to church and get involved. This trip really changed my life, and I want to go again next year.

-Miranda Orlando♥

YouthQuake was fun and I felt the Holy Spirit all throughout the weekend. I am grateful for the $ that people put in for me to go.

-Love, Nathan Robbins

Jesse Hearn was involved in the recent Boy Scouts of America fundraiser POPtober. As one of a group of accomplished salesman he earned tickets to see the Orlando Magic on December 14th, 2009.

Congratulations Jesse!
